Great Plains Theatre Conference announces the call for actors, directors and tech personnel

OMAHA, Neb. — Metropolitan Community College's Great Plains Theatre Conference is currently seeking actors, directors and technical personnel for its spring conference, May 28–June 4, 2016, at MCC's Fort Omaha Campus.

Since its inception eleven years ago, GPTC has become a nationally recognized theatre symposium, hosting both well-known and emerging playwrights. The GPTC has grown exponentially in stature each year, thanks in large measure to the efforts of more than 250 local theatre artists who are immersed in a week of readings, performances and special events.

Actors, directors and technical personnel receive free admission to all GPTC events, including PlayLabs, MainStage readings, acting workshops, panel discussions, PlaySlam, PlayFest and the closing celebration.

Those interested in participating can submit new information or updates to mccneb.edu/gptc/callforADT.asp. Casting will begin at the end of February 2016. The database is available for updates year-round.

For more information, visit mccneb.edu/gptc, call 402-457-2618, or email theatreconference@mccneb.edu.
